Strange police case in Glens Falls

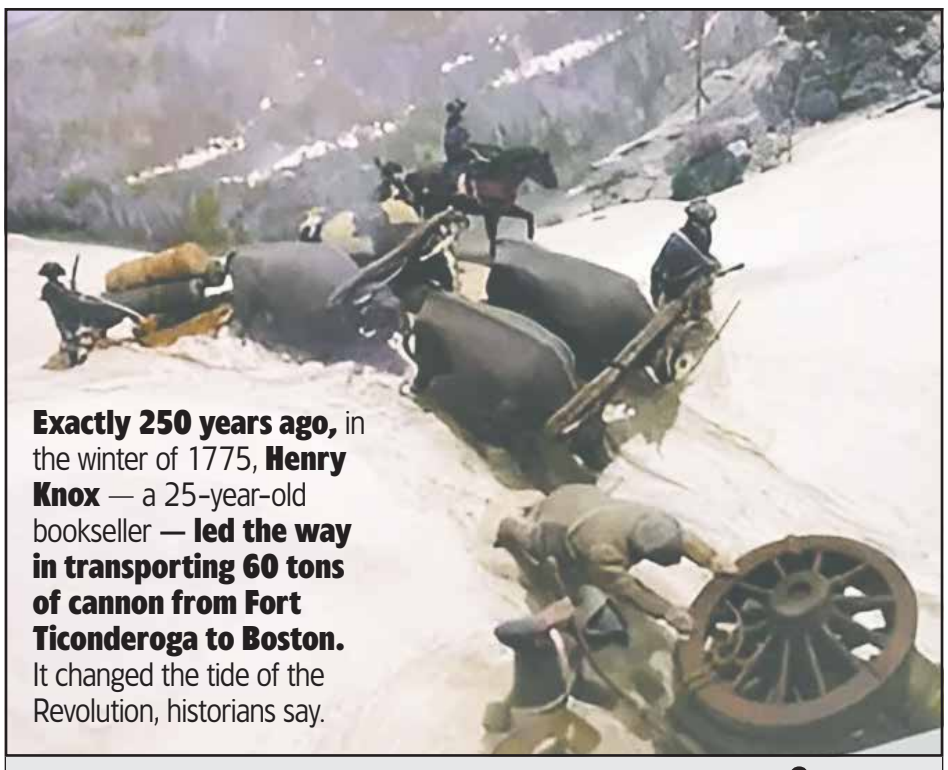

By Zander Frost & Cathy DeDe
Chronicle Staff Writer & Managing Editor

On Thursday, Dec. 4, New York State Police confirmed to The Chronicle that they arrested former Glens Falls Police Officer John Hogan III on a "single charge of Petit Larceny, which is a Class A Misdemeanor."

On Wednesday, Dec. 3, a "Press Release" had been posted on Facebook from the "City of Glens Falls Police Department" headined "Criminal Arrest of former Glens Falls Police Member John Hogan III."

But that release disappeared soon after it was posted. The Chronicle has sought explana-

Exactly 250 years ago, in the winter of 1775, Henry Knox — a 25-year-old bookseller — led the way in transporting 60 tons of cannon from Fort Ticonderoga to Boston. It changed the tide of the Revolution, historians say.

Knox cannon celebration!

The nation's celebration of our 250th Anniversary lands squarely in our midst this weekend with commemoration of Henry Knox's "Noble Train of Artillery," a pivotal feat in the Revolution.

Re GF Chester Street: Faults 'dehumanizing rhetoric' toward Genesis House residents

To the Editor:

I had many strong feelings after reading the December 4-10 Chronicle article "11 Chester forum: Ascend pledges reform" by Cathy DeDe.

First off, the people living at Genesis are not clients, they are human beings.

They are not any better or any worse than anyone else living in our society, or of any

Re Boralex solar plan in FE: Bird Trust adds additional detail

Dear Mark,

We were so pleased to see the excellent article published in The Chronicle about the commercial solar project planned for the Fort Edward grasslands. ["Solar & the Birds in Fort Edward," Nov. 26 Chronicle]. It was very well researched and written — which is not always the case with coverage on this issue!

There was one point which

Deer story prompts recall of honeymoon and moose in Alaska

To the Editor

I read your article in the Chronicle ["Cathy's course: How to butcher a deer," Dec. 4 Chronicle], and it reminded me of another adventure I wanted to share another culinary story about deer carving with you. When my Joaine and I were on our honeymoon in Alaska, driving north from Anchorage, we would travel for miles without seeing an-
